

KENNETH W. ESTES
GERMAN
 HEAVY
 FIGHTING
 VEHICLES
 OF THE SECOND WORLD WAR
 FROM TIGER TO E-100

German Heavy Fighting Vehicles of the Second World War

From Tiger to E-100
 Kenneth W. Estes

A comparative study reveals interesting details of the largest German tanks and assault guns, now confirmed by current restorations

- A balanced treatment of a variety of unique designs that responded to military requirements of their day
- Many previously unpublished photographs and images
- Interesting examples of battle damage
- Incorporates for the first time details of current and ongoing restorations of these vehicles
- Of much interest to the military historian, modeller and video-gamer such as War Thunder and World of Tanks

Press Information

- The author is available for interviews; e-mail kenneth.w.estes@gmail.com / ken_estes@compuserve.com
- Please contact the Publicity Department at Fonthill Media, tel. 01453 750505 or e-mail j.slater@fonthillmedia.com for further details

Bibliographic Information

Publication: 22 February 2018
Price: £18.99/$28.95
ISBN: 978-1-78155-646-7
Size: 248 x 172 mm
Binding: Paperback
Extent: 160 pages
Illustrations: 27 colour/59 mono
Rights: World, all languages

Kenneth W. Estes is a 1969 Naval Academy graduate and tank officer who served in the U.S. Marine Corps until his retirement in 1993. He earned his doctorate in European History in 1984 and has taught at Duke University, the US Naval Academy, and overseas. He is the author and editor of over a dozen books, and has written extensively in military and academic journals throughout his career. Estes was made an Honorary Legionnaire in the Spanish Legion in 1992 and The American Historical Association awarded him a Gutenberg-e Prize in 2002.

